Deck submission

Players must have a deck ready no later than exactly when game-time starts (TBA). Failure to do so will mean either play with what you have at the time, or concede. No changes except for sideboarding are allowed to a player's deck past the deadline.

Tournament Structure

The event will be divided into two (2) parts, first a Swiss style tournament in three 50 rounds, each round being a beat of three.

The second part will be a single elimination bracket for the four highest scoring players from the Swiss style tournament.

The Finals will be single elimination best of three.

All rounds of competition and scores must be registered on the Magic companion app.

- Deck build starts.
- Timers are on.
- Matches are best two-out-of-three games.

A player has the right to concede and leave the tournament at any time.

Outside Assistance

During matches, players may not seek play advice from spectators and spectators may not give play advice to players. Reports of players receiving outside assistance will be investigated and penalties will be assigned, up to and including disqualification. Players who receive unsolicited outside assistance from another player or spectator are expected to report the incident to tournament officials and submit any supporting evidence of attempt to provide outside assistance.
